LOCATION

Pulford is a charming village in Cheshire West and Chester, situated just to the southwest of Chester and bordering Wales. Steeped in history, the village has roots going back to the Domesday Book and features the ancient earthworks of Pulford Castle as well as the elegant St Mary's Church, rebuilt in the late 19th century by the architect John Douglas. Despite its rural feel, Pulford offers excellent accessibility. It lies close to Chester (about five miles away), with good road links, frequent bus services, and nearby amenities in neighbouring villages like Rossett. Residents enjoy the tranquillity of village life — scenic landscapes, views over open countryside, mature trees and green spaces — while remaining within easy reach of more urban facilities, schools, shops and transport. The community is tight knit, with local landmarks like the Grosvenor Pulford Hotel adding charm and style to village life.
